Delivering health and safety solutions

The national food and drink manufacturing conference 2010

This year's conference features a series of practical, interactive and thought-provoking sessions and networking opportunities. You'll hear from experts on the issues that matter to your industry and find out how practical solutions have helped improve health and safety standards.

Why attend?

Since the joint HSE/industry 'Recipe for safety' initiative began in 1990, the overall injury rate in food and drink manufacture has reduced by over 50 per cent and each year continues to see fewer injuries reported.

This two-day conference will focus on how we can continue to drive accidents down, improve health and safety in the food and drink manufacturing industry and how to deliver the most effective solutions.

Topics to be covered include:

- machinery safety
- manual handling
- behavioural safety
- leadership
- working at height
- workplace transport
- slips, trips and falls.

Who should attend?

This is a key event for:

- health and safety practitioners
- health and safety representatives
- managers
- consultants
- enforcing authorities
- machinery and equipment designers and suppliers.

About the venue

The Oxford Belfry Hotel is situated just minutes from junction 8 of the M40, 14 miles from central Oxford and 35 miles from Heathrow Airport. The full address for the venue is:

Gala dinner and awards

The gala dinner on Tuesday 28 September is a central part of the event, where we'll present the National Food and Drink Health and Safety Awards. These awards recognise innovative projects that have produced a practical solution to, and made a positive impact on, a health and safety problem in the sector. All full conference pass holders are invited to attend the dinner, as part of their ticket, to network in a relaxed atmosphere. The dress code for the dinner is smart.

Entry to the awards is open to anyone working in the food or drink manufacturing industries, including health and safety advisers, occupational nurses, hygienists, ergonomists, engineers, process operators, safety representatives and employee representatives.

The first prize is a trophy, certificate and a cheque for £500. At the judges' discretion, one or two runners-up may each receive a trophy, certificate and a cheque for £250.

For more information, contact Nick Wale at nick.wale@iosh.co.uk.

If you're looking to raise awareness of your brand and want to sponsor or exhibit at the event, contact Nick Wale on +44 (0)116 257 3231 or email nick.wale@iosh.co.uk.

The national food and drink manufacturing conference is organised by the IOSH Food and Drink Group, with support from the HSE's Agriculture and Food Sector and the Food and Drink Manufacture Health and Safety Forum.
